

Every Word

©2018 Joe Deegan. Words and music by Joe Deegan.

1. Though the grass withers and fades, though the stars fall from the sky,
Every Word of God endures and never dies.
Though the mountains melt like wax, though the trees return to sod,
Everlasting is the Word of our great God.

(Chorus)

Every Word of God is true (He is making all things new)

Every Word of God is true (Taste and see the Lord is good)

2. Though we walk with fears and doubts, though we step where we can't see,
The Word of God will be a lamp unto our feet.
Though we sojourn as the pilgrim in a land of lies and death,
The Word of God will give us hope and life and breath.

(Double Chorus)

(Bridge)

In the beginning was the Word.

That Word became flesh and dwelt with us.

He who has ears, let him hear,

The Word of God is drawing near.

He who has ears, let him hear,

The Word of God is drawing nearer and nearer and nearer...

(Double Chorus)
