

Chance Vought F4U-1D — Corsair

Carrying four rockets under each of its gull wings, — and a fuel tank under the right wing — the 417-miles per hour Corsair was the fastest fighter on board U.S. carriers during World War II.

